AT TWENTY ONE
I CAME TO ILLINOIS
1830

At first sight
it were as though I was a lonely leaf
blown and flung across the campus
there was nothing but buildings
sidewalks and people they rushed at me and by me I wanted to stop yet the changing winds and wind of change kept pushing pushed changed dragged--waiting frightened I was shoved on board and became a person and the wind was transformed into the Mythical Millikin Tour
stumbling and falling I started as I look through the kaleidoscope still stumble fall too many blacks and whites hundreds of shades of gray colors rushing together flowing mixed separated
I see people screaming for order I see a tour guide reaching for a camera turning around says,
"Let us develop."

Grab yourself
hold on to life the Mythical Millikin merry-go-round
will unfold be revealed take my hand drum on to life beating rolling battering out the past
will unfold be revealed
climb on board dance the rhythm twirling stomping waltzing out the year
will unfold be revealed
seize a flower remember love thinking sitting crying out what's left
will unfold be revealed
cast away throw out reason singing screaming laughing out the old
will unfold be revealed
leave your friends go take a trip running speeding flying out of reach
will unfold be revealed
the past the year gone
the old but not forgotten that which couldn't be reached will be revealed grabbing holding taking beating climbing dancing seizing crying throwing singing leaving now will unfold

A mass of books confronts me turning around I am trapped by the creations of my own buried in papers pencils catalog numbers erasers trying to stop finish the burden roots me to this chair sleep-but no-drinking coffee try diet pills-- always play now put off till later it continually catches me summer where are you next time do everything before-- sloshing struggling through this book my eyes stuck in the mud print have to take time out to go to class no more cuts maybe catch sleep there sinking in the quicksand study trying to pull myself out bag monster closer got to work study

In Memoriam:
Paul L. McKay

1917-1971

"President Paul L. McKay's arrival on the campus seemed to bring us a new desire for accomplishments. He spoke of his desire to make Millikin known as a center of culture and intellectual integrity throughout the entire midwest, and students soon noticed he was quietly and efficiently working for that purpose."

Trial by fire-- Living in a social atmosphere ready to ignite oneself out of apathy Burning people pushing from each other looking for something that glows Excitement--too little seems we inherited ashes of some other bonfire, left to sift through gray and char looking for an Ember to nurse taking time to rebuild Sometime in the future again the sight of Blazing Flaming people running wild-- Until once more buttresses Burnt Out and Statues Stoned.

Parent's Day

Parents' Day is a traditional event on Millikin's Campus. Every year parents come to visit, eat lunch, meet instructors and attend a M.U. football game. The addition of two new buildings on the campus added a little to the traditional activities. After being locked out of the auditorium in the newly opened Kirkland Fine Arts Center, the students and their parents participated in the usual events. This year there were various discussion groups to attend, plus the ever present living units, class buildings and campus. At the halftime of the game was the traditional presentation of the Ideal Parent's Award.

Ideal Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perkins watch the football game with their daughter Jan.

Parents' Day Co-Chairman: Rosemary Lawton and Brian Fitzgerald.

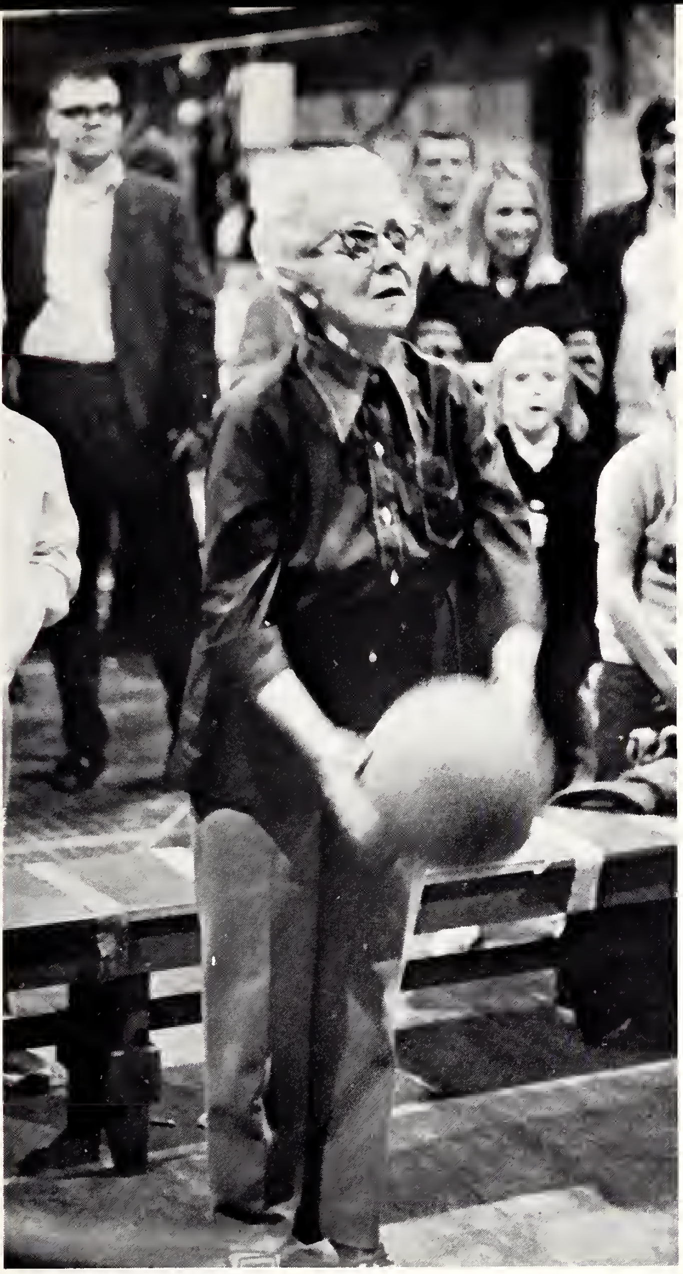
Campus Chest

This year's Campus Chest, co-chaired by Dale Tully and Curt Petty, was all new.

To start the annual ecumenical fund-raising drive, a talent show was presented to the student body. The talent brought forth that night was unbelievable--from a solo singer-guitarist to a mismatched, out-of-tune and most fashionable second-hand female liberation marching band. A bit of excitement added flavor to the show when the fire alarm went off. Imagine a three-ring circus right in Kirkland with firemen rushing from all sides to find not a fire, but a magician act on stage. The Carnival was different this year, too. New booths were encouraged, new organizations participated and the faculty showed their interest by selling tickets. Immediately following was the Marathon Dance, another new event this year. If you love to dance, come next year. You'll dance all night. On the Saturday night of Campus Chest weekend a school dance was held highlighted by the crowning of the Beauty and the Beast. This year they were Merry Sue Smith, Pi Beta Phi, and Monte Cater, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.



Homecoming

The height of the social season at Millikin comes with Homecoming. With this year's shortened semester, Homecoming was squeezed between Parent's Day and Campus Chest. In many ways, this year's festivities were traditional. However, co-chairmen Linda Halvorsen and Keith Drach attempted to gear the week more toward the students than in past years. The theme of the week was "Up, Up and Away".

As in the past, Homecoming began with an assembly including the coronation of the queen. Included in the assembly was a pep session led by the cheerleader and an unusual band of administration and faculty. The week's schedule was outlined by the co-chairmen for the various events. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the queen.

The Student Show, "Pass the Buck" was the best in recent years. The satire described the administrative process of decision making, as a conflict arose concerning the innovation of a founder's day. The author, John Adney provided an enjoyable experience for all those who attended of any the three performances.

It seems that house decorations are only successful on alternate years. This year's decorations were nothing out of the ordinary. A trend was shown toward lowering the price range, as some groups did not participate, while others ran on smaller budgets. There were still a few extraordinary feats of elaborateness by some of the housing units. Lighting gained importance this year, as two of the winning decorations, Delta Delta Delta and Tau Kappa Epsilon, had rather extensive light shows. There was also an apparent trend toward making the decorations relevant as two housing units saw fit to make some social comment. Fairview, the third winner, centered its decoration around the rising Millikin tuition, while another group made a movie entitled, "Up, Up and Away With Education."

Homecoming

The newest tradition of Homecoming is Trivia Bowl. Started three years ago, the event has gone through an evolution, both mechanically and intellectually. Trivia Bowl is a sort of question-answer game, where contestants try to be the first to discover the answers to 'trivia' questions. In the first year, contestants raised their hands when they knew the answer to a question. Last year they pushed a button to turn on a light. This year, the Trivia Bowl co-chairmen attempted to devise a lock-out system so that only one light would shine on any one question. The system failed. The first year the questions were difficult, being chosen from several books. The following year the questions were harder, again taken from books. This year, the Trivia Bowl co-chairmen made up the questions.

One of the most exciting events was the Homecoming Games on Friday afternoon. Students rallied to smash twenty-two girls in a Volkswagen, as Delta Delta Delta won the VW stuff. Hessler Hall men, appropriately attired in helmets and goggles won the VW push. Relays, a bicycle race and a frisbee throw added variety.

CARTHAGE

Alums, students, faculty, parents and town's people congregated at Millikin's new field for the first game ever played on it. The game itself was a disappointment as Millikin lost to Carthage. But the day was beautiful, the sun was shining and the fans enjoyed what might have been a last touch of summer. At half-time, the band marched and the Homecoming queen was presented to the crowd. As usual, the trophies for house decorations and games were presented at this time, as the Homecoming Co-Chairmen made their final appearance.

A large audience was on hand to see and hear a fine Homecoming Concert by "The Friends of Distinction". The program began with a long number by the backup group for the "Friends," but picked up speed and life as the singing began. The group was chosen more for the student audience, and was therefore well received by the students. The older people present also seemed to get some enjoyment from the concert, but there was an apparent generation gap in the audience reaction.

IDC Christmas Formal

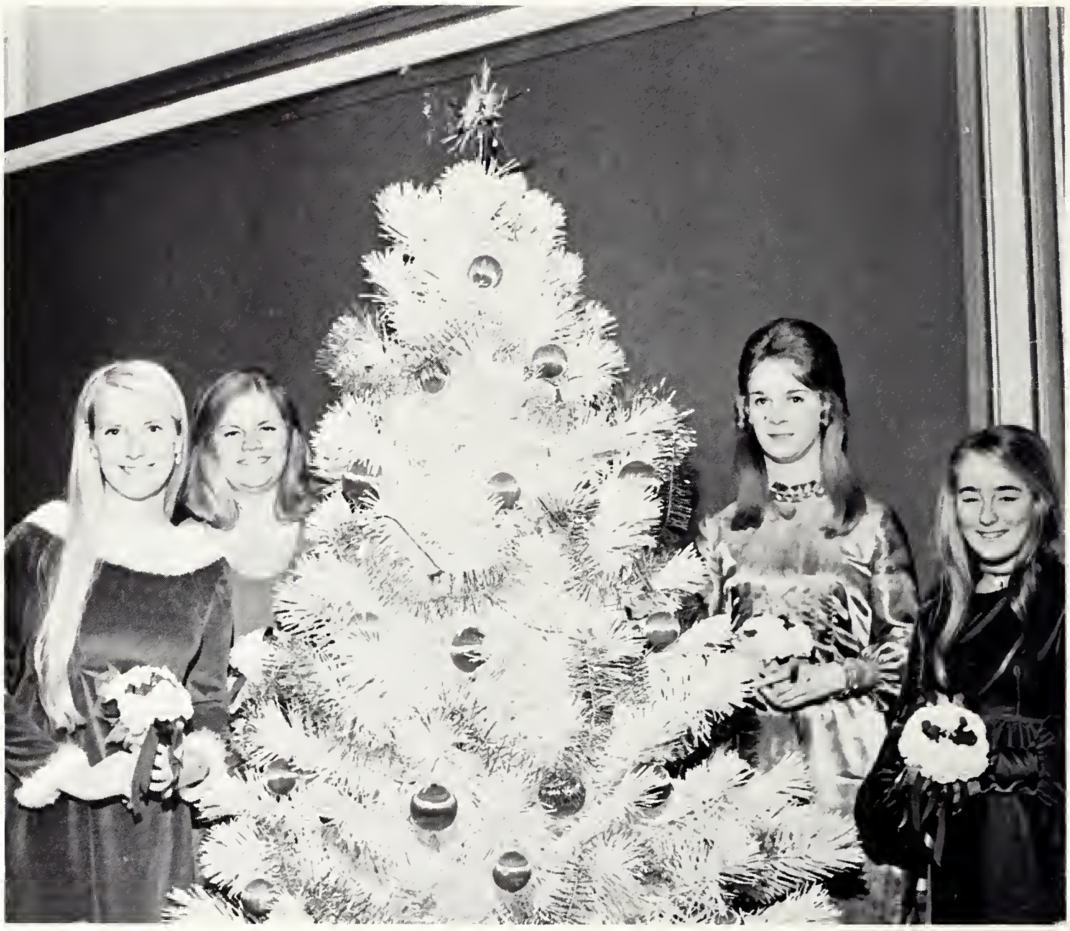
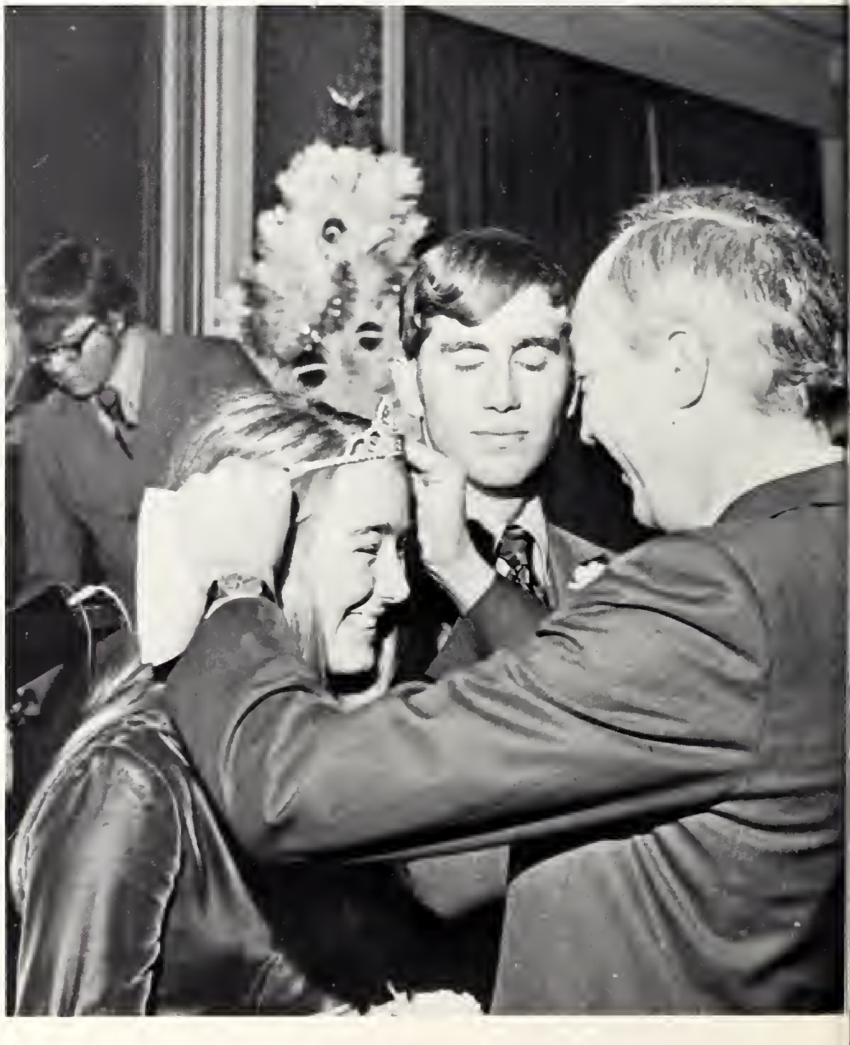
Style, dignity and grace. If a Millikin student has any it is all expended in one night-the IDC Winter Formal. Beauty and dancing ability are put to the test as each couple is in the spotlight. Seeing each other formally attired is an experience that comes as often as the legalization of marijuana.





Sweetheart Dance

What you see is what you get. Once again the Sweetheart Dance was the place to trip to the "Light Fantastic" and impress the one who was close to your heart of hearts. Sue Shepherd of Delta Delta Delta and Greg Brown of Kappa Sigma were elected Sweetheart Queen and King.

Elections

What happens every year that gets largely ignored? If you guessed elections you were close--but no cigar. The Business Office would have been the correct answer. This year, as in others, elections and the Business Office were the occasion for much running around and hoopla that created little in the way of constructive action on the part of any but the candidates and a few secretaries. This leads one to believe that maybe the B.O. should be elected and the officers hired.

Campus Prologue

A time of year that brings nervous high school seniors and indifferent college students together is called Prologue here at Millikin. Sometimes a weekend of learning, sometimes a weekend of frivolity--and other times merely a lost weekend. Whatever the final analysis, it is hoped that increased enrollment is the result.

Dances

Floating down the dance floor--nobody had to nudge you. Or possibly the proper terminology is stumbled down the dance floor--no matter, in your mind you was glidin'. Perhaps being born under a bad sign you just stood stone still in the middle of the floor staring silently at the lights, the people, the music, the room tipping, the world collapsing . . . .

Taking on responsibility of Working and decision making Eat, study, play, party
All things with others in mind Together trying to achieve a lasting feeling of accomplishment and unity.
Absorbing failures only to try

Always experimenting in personal relationships Wanting to build.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

As organizations intended to develop fraternities and sororities into cohesive working units, Panhellenic Council and Inter-Fraternity Council discuss problems which face each house. Rush rules and Greek Week are two areas which fall specifically under the jurisdiction of the two councils. Always attempting to further the Greek system, the Greek Coordinating Bodies are constantly working together. I.F.C. has meetings weekly.

Listening.
Speakers with much on their minds telling all.
People sitting together awake asleep watching waiting talking.
Students wondering when-- When their program is to come Others satisfied leave to come again While many sit in their rooms waiting, talking, sleeping, wondering-- Listening.

Mrs. Elinor Gage, Director of Kirkland Fine Arts Center.

Mrs. Kirkland

Ballet Folklorico of Mexico

"I couldn't believe the colors!"
"Wasn't the scene with the little old men really funny!"
"Those costumes were so fantastic!"
"The dancer that did the deer scene was so graceful!"
"One of the most beautiful things I've ever seen!"

Such ran the comments following the performance of Ballet Folklorico of Mexico at the Gala Opening of Kirkland Fine Arts Center. The performance was so breathtaking the audience almost forgot to marvel at the new building. It was truly an exciting evening for all concerned.

University Center Board

The University Center Board functions to sponsor weekend activities and other types of entertainment for the students at the University. Redecoration of the Sub has been in the mill for a couple of years and with some luck the Board has formulated a viable plan that will be carried out in the near future. U.C. Board also helped sponsor the Radio Station.

Convocations Committee

Consisting of both students and faculty, the Convocations Committee is responsible for presenting programs on the campus that are of interest culturally, intellectually, and socially. These programs are in the form of guest speakers such as TV personality Charles Kuralt, musical performances as the Paul Winter Consort, the comedy of the Barrow Poets and classics from the world of cinema like 'Citizen Kane'. The committee had some trouble this year with programs being cancelled, but general student reaction to the programs presented was more favorable than in the previous year.

Showcase Theater

Remember Town and Gown? It is now Showcase Theater--with many changes! This year, under new management, the speech department revamped the whole scene, which subsequently gave birth to this new theater group. The newly inspired members have brought back to Millikin a spirited and upgraded source of entertainment for the students and town.

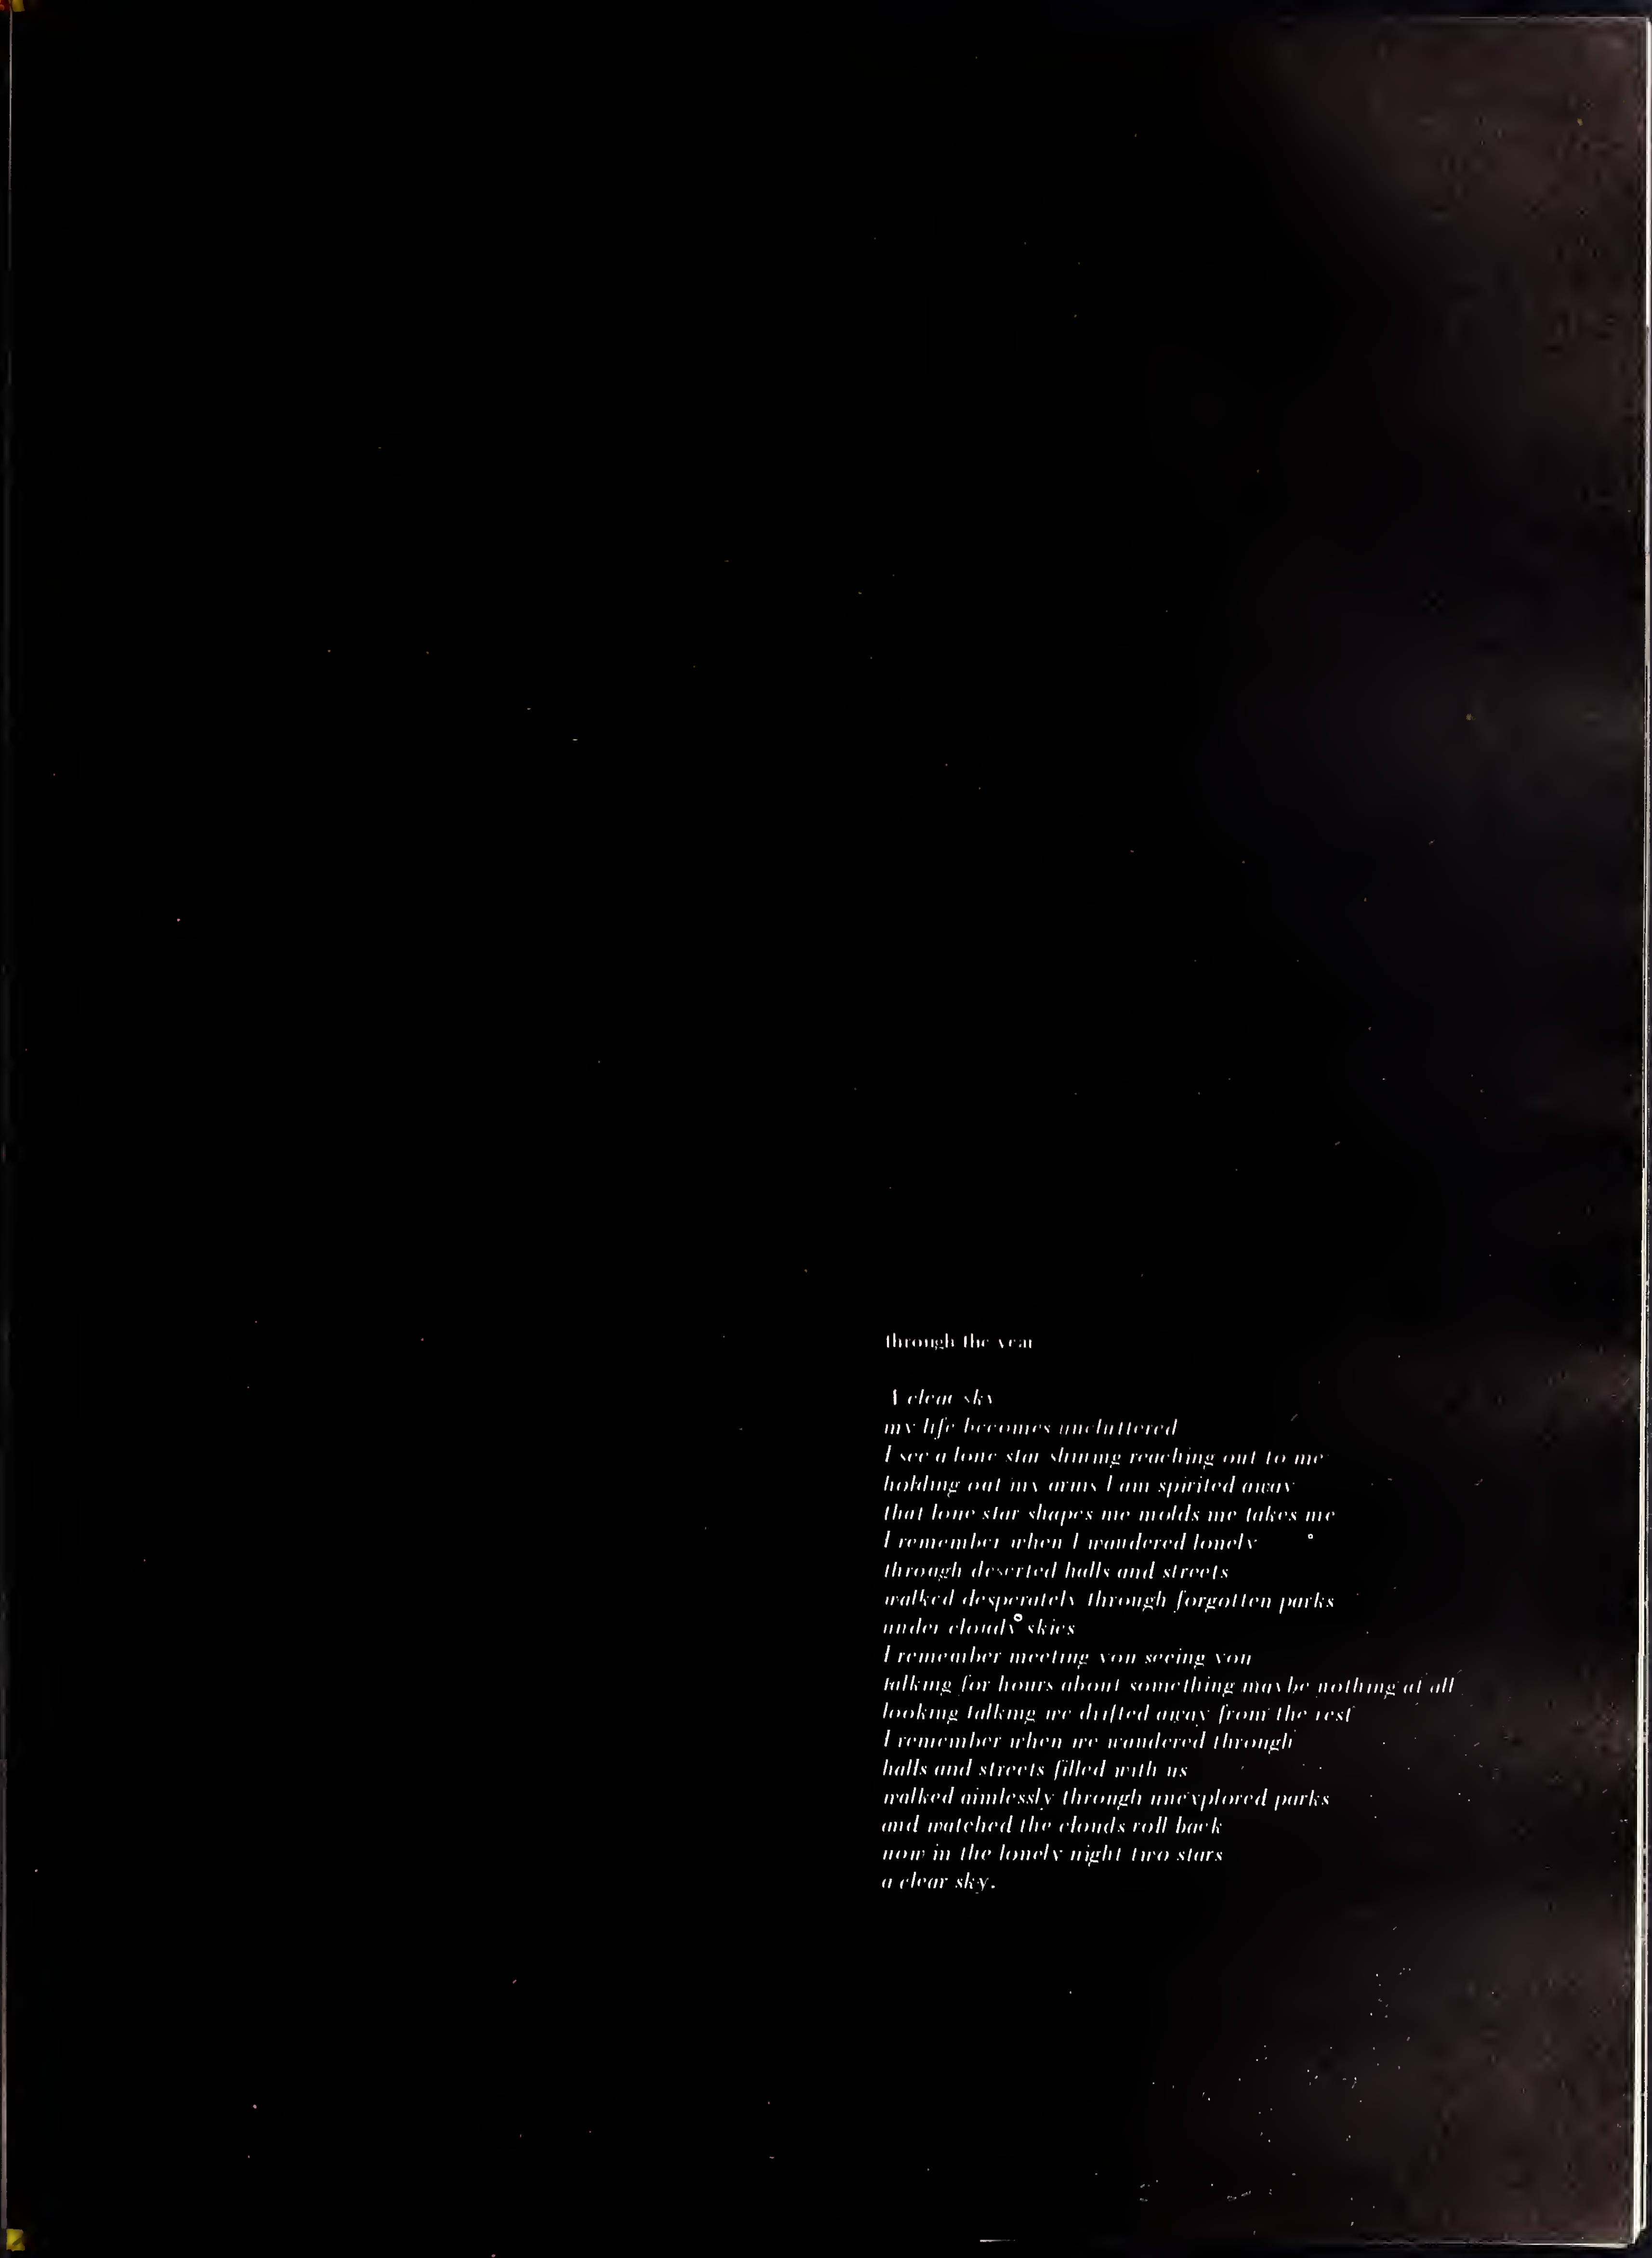
Student Faculty Retreats

Communications, dialogue, interpersonal relations, social intercourse, or just a little jivin' is the manner in which one could describe a Student-Faculty Retreat. Serious conversations about school policy or other related subjects are usually the topics. Normally, the net result is a barrage by the people laying down some heavy stuff on their peers, subordinates and a few figures of authority.



through the year

A clear sky
my life becomes uncluttered I see a lone star shining reaching out to me holding out my arms I am spirited away that lone star shapes me molds me takes me I remember when I wandered lonely through deserted halls and streets walked desperately through forgotten parks under cloudy skies
I remember meeting you seeing you talking for hours about something maybe nothing at all looking talking we drifted away from the rest I remember when we wandered through halls and streets filled with us walked aimlessly through unexplored parks and watched the clouds roll back now in the lonely night two stars
a clear sky.

Arrival

Instead.
I leave here
Moving beyond that plain Hoping to land distantly slow Growing the answer by my house Today I watered a desert.
Because.

Rush

Singing yelling hoarse
No time for sleep
Only eating and talking Waiting for a bid Join the best-but which
One? As Saturday
Brings new experiences and work.

Christmas

24 COUN
Eisner Food Stores

Cold ice and wind grip each in a hold of suspended animation Activity goes inside to hibernate behind closed doors
The carelessness of summer and fall become the inhibition of winter-only the many doors know the truth Peering eyes could not know nor melt the ice of secrecy that surrounded students hidden in buildings waiting Waiting for Millikin to finally Thaw.

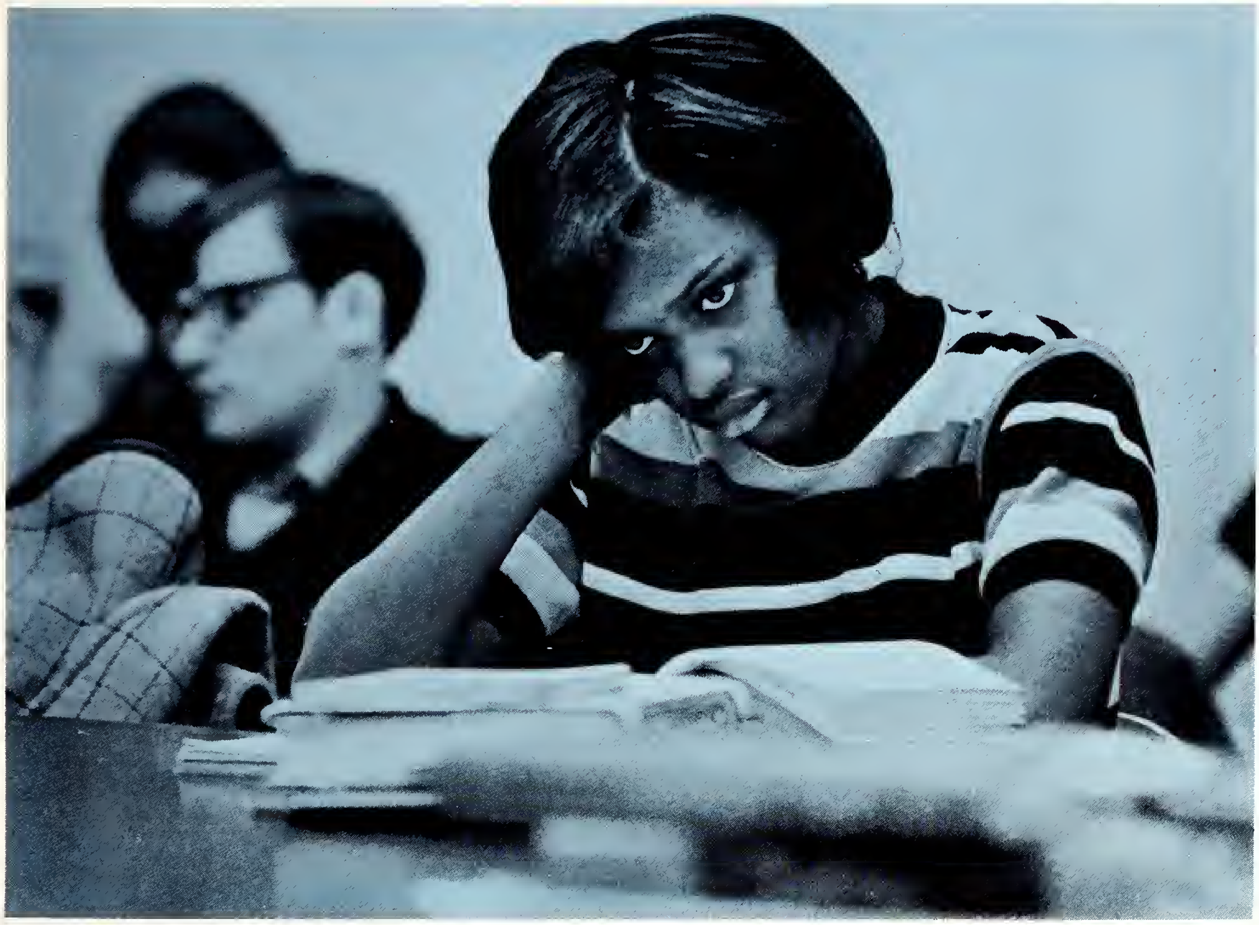
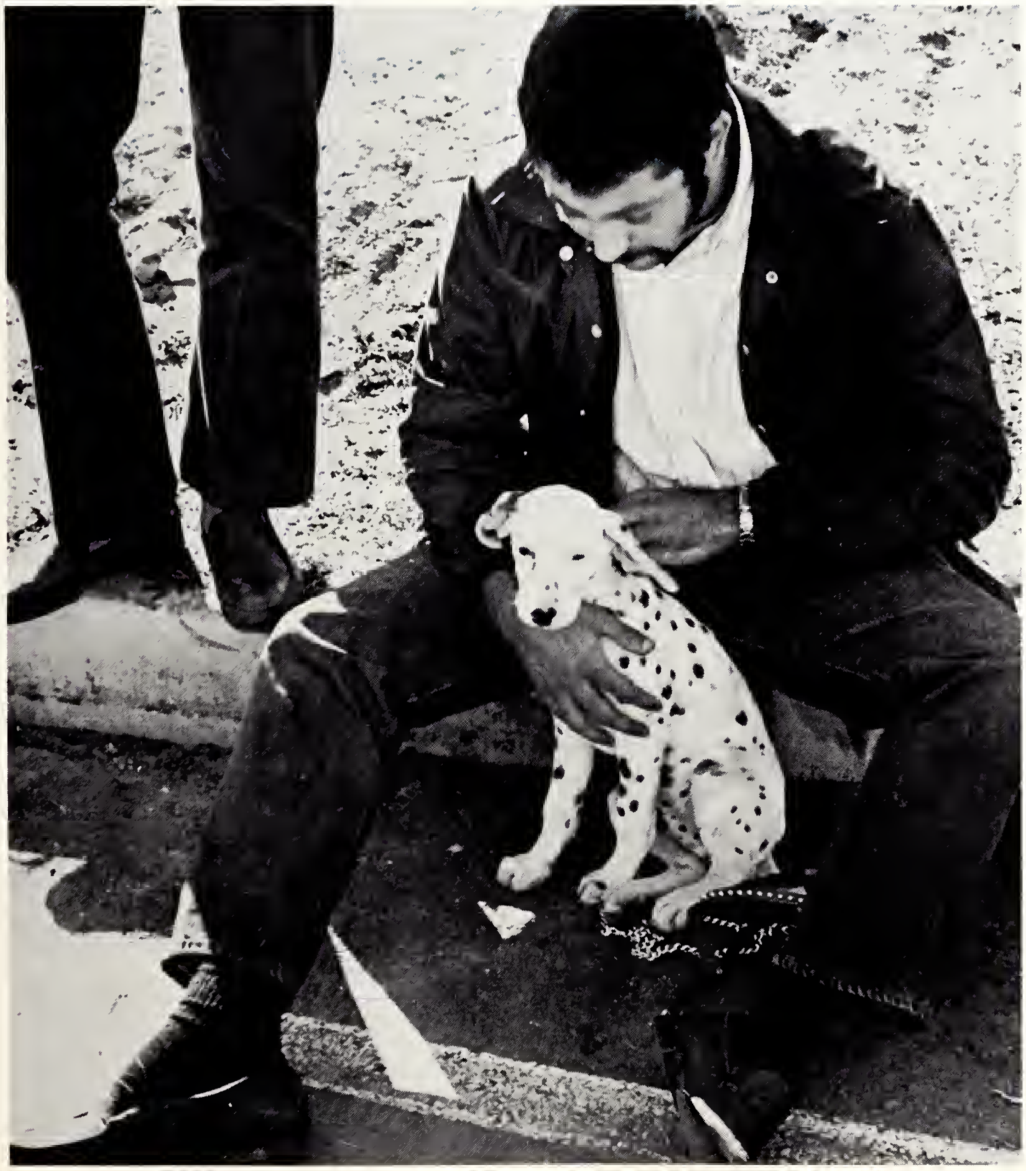
Dreams





Envelopes
plain white envelopes don't know who sent me or where I'm going trying to find someone I know looking into a hazy past reaching forward pulling back nothing always standing in front of mirrors I find someone he only mocks me trying to get past that mirror I cut myself
the trip is laden with my own blood others too self addressed searching for their homes many hurt bleeding people getting together working talking fighting loving searching together
not so much blood
I can see their arms working together
I think a little steadier we walk alone but run
    together
holding hands a little shouting singing some jumping laughing more turn to living loving now try to find ourselves each other

Winter
Term
1971

Millikin's first Winter Term can at the very least be called unique. While some students were being attacked by sharks down in Florida others fought the cold snow of Wisconsin. A few hardy souls braved the out of doors around Decatur; some more people enjoyed a Caribbean tour. Meanwhile back at good ole M.U. many students marked time waiting for the end---of Winter Term. These students were assured that 'next year' more activities would be planned for those who remained on campus. What can you say?

SUB

Sterile und Bare. SUB. Though this university recreation center looks more like Doctor Zorba's surgical room,many Millikin students gather there everyday and night to play cards, eat, talk, or just wait for something to happen. There has been a rumor floating around school for a few semesters that the U.C. Board was going to remodel the entire SUB, but by second semester '70-'71 nothing had materialized. Time marches on.

Spring

I have listened to a hundred professors droning on thru time and have sat in a thousand desks rotting for eternity have walked a million steps from class to class and death to death-I have written nonsense on exams too many places and times to simply be called B.S. or rather B.A. in the College of Arts and Sciences.

We have listened to one spring green leaf talking life and world and experience and have sat in too few parks breathing forever have run nowhere in the sun and lived to be reborn

We have scribbled in mud puddles and communicated understanding Picking up a flower-everything is real remember throwing it in a small stream that floated somewhere a lecture that lasted barely a moment but taught us enough to last our lives honors

Searching.
Reaching for a goal in the distance
We keep moving forward
The faint glimmer ahead reminds us Tells us helps us keep the strength to progress.
Sometimes we seem stranded alone but the path made by others long ago holds hope that one more can make it Though never without more Searching.

Each year students are elected to represent Millikin in the pages of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES. These students are those who are outstanding in character, leadership ability, citizenship and scholarship. Ideally, they should be students who excel both academically and in campus activities. The faces of these people should be familiar to both students and faculty.

Any student or faculty member may nominate an upperclassman to be represented in the book. A list is compiled containing the names, grade point and most important activities for each candidate. After considering the list, members of Student Senate and the faculty choose a certain number of people to be honored. Recently, there has been some question as to the legitimacy of this manner of choosing representatives for WHO'S WHO.

Three honoraries on campus are truly academic honoraries. Students are chosen from any academic or professional field.

Pi Delta Upsilon is the freshman women's honorary. Any woman who has a B average or better at the end of her first or second semester is asked to be a member. All of the women who accept the invitation are initiated and retain the honor until the end of the sophomore year or such time as the grade point drops below a 3.0.

Pi Mu Theta is the senior women's honorary. Women who have distinguished themselves both academically and through service to the school are nominated by the faculty. The active members of Pi Mu Theta then choose the women who will be asked to join.

Phi Kappa Phi is the highest honor for any student or faculty member on Millikin's campus. No more than ten percent of the graduating class can be represented in the honorary. Membership in Phi Kappa Phi is an honor of which any student can be proud.

Honorary organizations are used to recognize a variety of students who excel in sundry ways. They can also bring together people with similar courses of study and similar interests. Alpha Epsilon Delta, Sigma Zeta, and Alpha Kappa Psi serve this grouping purpose by restricting membership to those in certain areas of study.

Sigma Zeta is the national science and math honorary on campus. Millikin's is the Pi chapter. The group is composed of upper classmen who are in some field of science or math.

Alpha Epsilon Delta is a pre-fraternity; pre-medicine, pre-dentistry, pre-veterinary, and medical technology. The membership is restricted to those enrolled in a medical field of study.

Alpha Kappa Psi is the professional business fraternity. Men enrolled in the Business and Industrial Management School are eligible to join.

Recently women were asked to join as honorary members. Alpha Kappa Psi decided to use its collected knowledge this year for some purpose beyond listening to guest lecturers. The group volunteered to aid the university in its fund-raising drive, proving to be a real asset to the school.

Phi Mu Alpha

Millikin's two musical honoraries are Sigma Alpha Iota for women and Phi Mu Alpha for men. The groups are both national fraternities. During the year, Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha present musical entertainment to the school through serenades, concerts and other events. The groups combine the advantages of social organizations, honoraries, and special interest groups to provide a worthwhile program for their members and the school.

Choir

Listening to the Millikin University choir is an enjoyable experience. Open only to a select group who have passed auditions, the Choir upholds its high standards of musical ability. The Choir is well known nationwide due to its yearly jaunts to various places. The destination in January 1971: Florida. The hours of hard practice are evident in the sound produced by the Choir.

University Choir: ROW 1: M. Schroeter, P. Foster, K. Paradiso, S. Welker, D. Dunn, G. Miller, D. Bolden, C. Doctor, C. Rickey, D. McQueen. ROW 2: M. Heck, E. Chapman, G. Motta, J. Cook, M. Ever since its creation the Jazz Lab Band has brought recognition for itself and the University. Last year the Jazz group took its second foreign tour, this time through South America.

Not only has the Jazz Lab Band improved through the years but the members have dedicated themselves to the progressive spirit of experimentation. This is one organization on campus that effectively blows its own horn.

Residence Advisors

Nobody loves me except my mother . . . If that is the case, the men and women that work for the school as residence directors and assistants could probably help you. Besides assisting lost souls, they are responsible for the efficient operation of the dorms. Though as a group hardly appreciated, they can be good friends away from their stifling environment. And remember . . . Keep Smiling!

And from across the campus the quiet shuffling of feet, a silent procession of somber faces---quick whispers, covered eyes, vacant looks because the judges of student ethics and morality are again in session. The Judicial Board convenes in the event of any contingency such as nuclear attack, full scale infantry assault, uprising of the mau-mau's, or maybe someone had a glass of beer.

Committees

An important committee as far as students are concerned is the Admissions Committee. This group evaluates marginal admission and re-admission cases. They are responsible for keeping the standards of the University as high as is feasible.

Student Affairs Committee is the place that policies of an academic and social nature are formulated. An active committee, it is responsible to the students for their intellectual, cultural, religious, and social welfare. Unfortunately, they have been unable to assemble a quorum for the past two months.

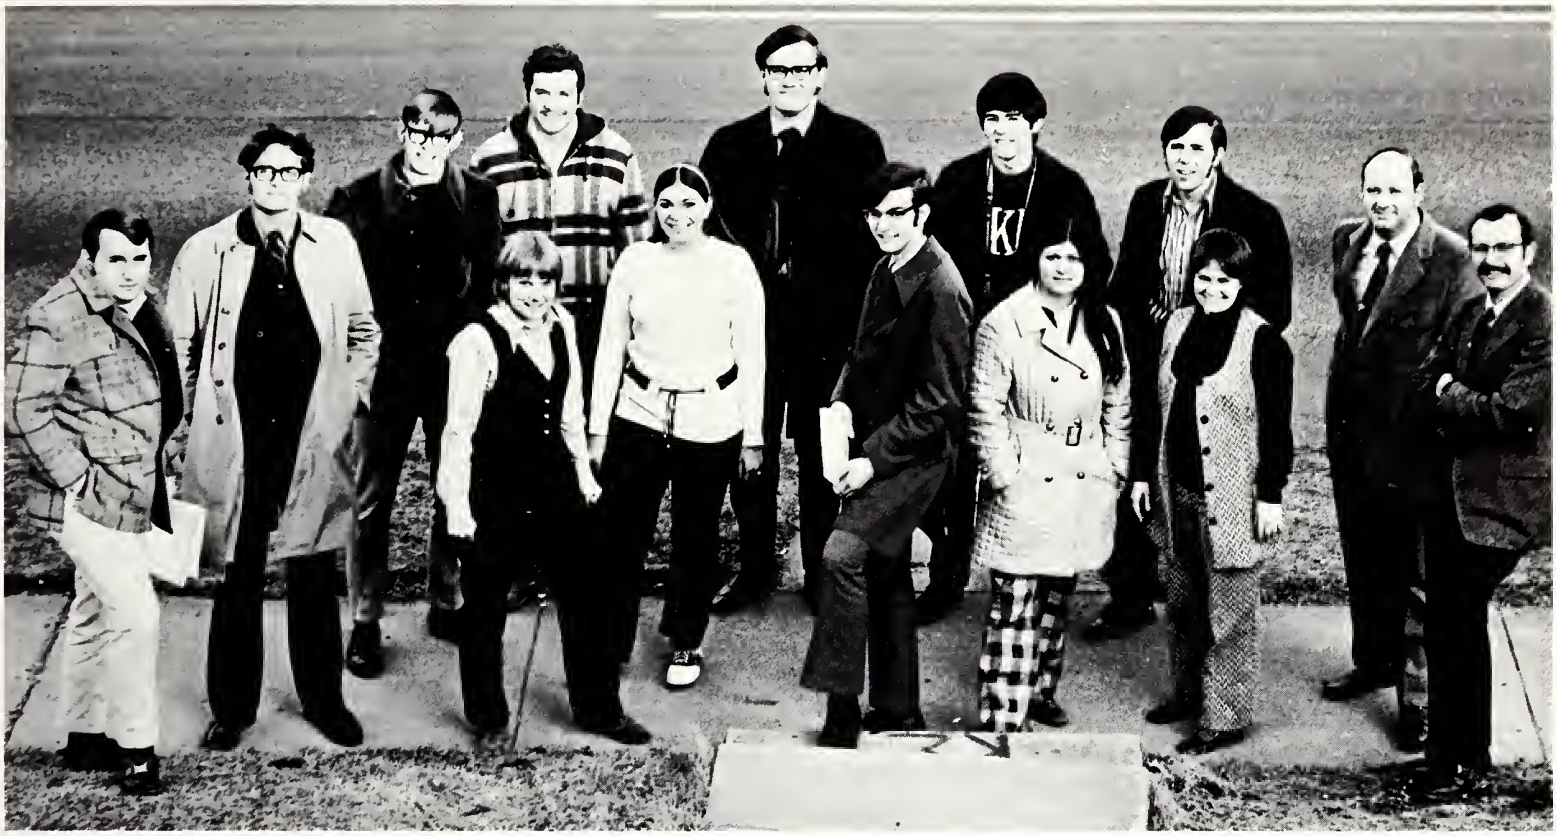
Publications Board



Publications Board consists mainly of the chiefs of the various communication media on campus. This year representatives from the newly organized radio station were added to Pub Board, making the group a focus point for communication on campus. The board is responsible for budgeting money for these activities and making sure they are efficiently handled so as to produce high quality reading and listening for the campus.

*Encouragement to win as crowds yell for a score becomes the blood of sport. Finding empty paper cups strewn around reminds all that still another game was fought.
Losing-Winning the forgotten score-nor will a trace of the anxiety and hardship that just was witnessed linger on-- Everything just drifts away with the 1970 CO-CAPTAINS: Dave Polovina and Danny Welch.

Starting the season on a courageous note, the Big Blue handily defeated their first two opponents. From that moment on though, our defeats came more handily. To the cheers and shouts of an inspired audience the Millikin University football team once again played on their own field. As in years past, the frenetic roar of football fever was heard across the campus.

Basketball

The University Basketball team has a bright future. Though comprised mainly of underclassmen the team started off with a lot of promise. They ran into problems near the end of the season, but with some more experience and practice the next couple of years should prove to be interesting.

Swimming

Millikin presented its first swimming team in some years in the 1970-71 season. Even so, they made a brilliant showing. Inexperience was no hindrance as the Big Blue handily defeated most of their opponents. This athletic organization should be powerful in years to come for many of the swimmers are from the ranks of the freshmen.

1971 ROSTER: M. Allen, W. Batson, M. Canty, R. Coller, W. Duffner, J. Frost, J. Grady, K. Gulder, A. Kazan, B. Lay, R. Layland, D. Manson, J. Mikels, J. Rohrs, R. Sindelaar.

Circle K

The appearance of Circle K changed this year with the addition of a few women students as honorary members. Circle K is a decidedly human oriented organization, providing services for the school, the community as well as the nation. Among their activities are the Pumpkin Karving Kontest, A Christmas card drive for servicemen in Vietnam and their participation in Decatur Youth Programs. On Millikin's Campus, Circle K offers an opportunity for students to help others. All of the member students are dedicated to other people.

Radio Station WJMU

Initiated, developed and founded solely by the student body, the campus radio station, WJMU, finally was nurtured from a small seed of an idea to a strong and sound infant. Dedication alone was the ingredient that fed it. Now that the material work is done, hopefully the sound produced will take it from infancy to full maturity.

For Soul Only

This year FSO attained the Old Gym to use as their Black Culture Center. In order to achieve a better understanding throughout the academic community FSO also presented a weekly column in THE DECATURIAN. As soon as the Culture Center is finished that, too, will be a focal point at Millikin and in Decatur for furthering communication. The work the members did on renovation of the Old Gym had one side effect, though: in contrast to years past the only noise from FSO for a couple of semesters was the pounding of hammers. The campus awaits the construction of the Center and the rebirth of political activity.

Teaching is a big attraction for many students here at Millikin. Student Education Association is a conglomeration of people interested in that highly esteemed field. This is a place where they can get their education values together.

The Music Educators National Conference is a homologous group of students formed for the mitigation of music education majors in their undergraduate endeavors. This institution meets to hear great speakers thereby gaining insight into the world of music discipline.

Psi Chi

The Psychology Club is an organization for students interested in the studies of psychology and other related subjects. This year the group affiliated with the national organization, Psi Chi.

At a small University, numbers is an important game. How many professors? How many buildings? How many students? The most important numbers are translated into the size of the incoming freshman class. Recruitment becomes the foundation of success. Playing a large role in this success are the students who comprise the Student Admissions Corps.

University Chorus

The University Chorus is open to all students and townspeople. This musical organization offers its members an outlet for creative expression and experience. The opportunity to perform combined with the working, concentration and practice make the chorus an exciting group.

University Orchestra

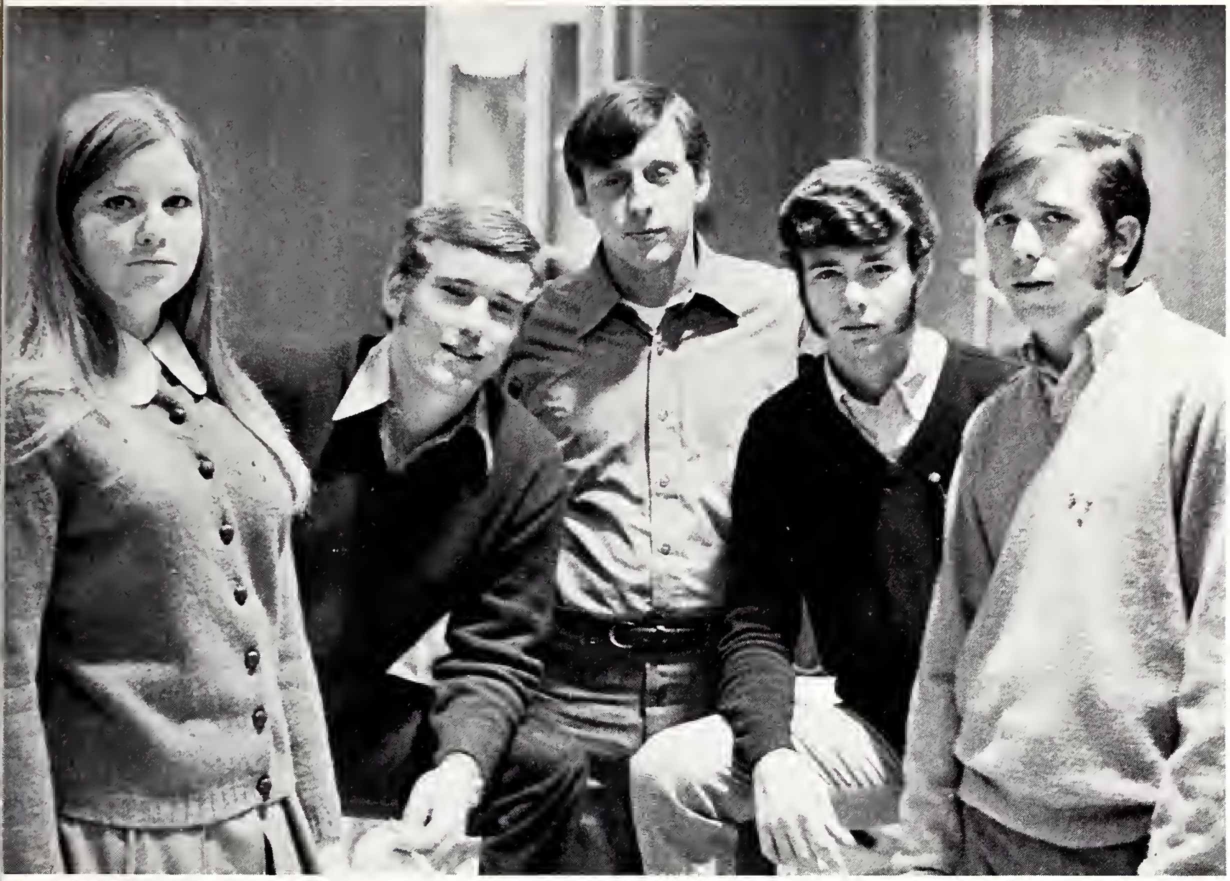
The student who is oriented toward classical forms of music and enjoys performing various works by artists who exemplify that persuasion, is encouraged to join the orchestra. Here he can seriously peruse his endeavors as a musician and enjoy, through the creative process, a sense of achievement. The orchestra provides each member with satisfaction that comes only after much practice and time.

University Band

The Millikin Concert Band and Wind Ensemble offers membership to any student who has musical ability. Performance provides the musicians with an arena for actualization of ability that was preceded by hours of hard practice. The musical experience affords both the audience and performer the chance for gratification.

Student Senate

There comes a point in every discussion when there is nothing left to say. In Senate the converse is true. Each meeting starts with nothing to say and reaches a point of discussion. But Senate did do something. The total man-hours expended in Mills Formal Lounge is mind boggling. The students of Millikin University would like to take this opportunity to thank all the senators for their time and effort in presenting the biggest show on earth.



SENATE OFFICERS: Celia O'Rourke, Secretary; Randy Bono, Social Chairman; Jim Lauerman, President; Bill Shipton, Vice-President; Bob Thompson, Treasurer.

Decaturian

An indication of a good college newspaper is the varied and numerous places it can be found. On this assumption, THE DECATURIAN has to be rated very strongly. In every building of the University the floors are carpeted with the latest issue. One need not go to Lower L.A. to get a copy; all that a student has to do is stoop over and pick one up. This method of distribution is one of the best devised and organized systems ever to appear outside of the average High School.

Directory Editors

At a school such as Millikin, people and rules are extremely important. The Student-Faculty Directory handles the people aspect by cateloging name, class rank, and telephone number. All the rules and regulations (and other points of interest) are to be found in the Student Handbook, which is administered by the Orientation Commission. The only other thing an M.U. student needs is a couple of stiff drinks.

Student-Faculty Director Editors: Cheryl Parson and Barb Douglas.

Deadlines. The word foremost in the minds of the staff. Four weekends spread throughout the year that mean endless processions of photographs, faces, bodies, buildings and layouts. people

Sitting out in the open we wait for the sky to drift.
As each sun and moon reveals itself to every breath a stillness creeps within and suddenly maybe life is more than a thought or pictures pasted together or a bulletin board beckoning action.
Perhaps a person will arise to take your hand-- Out in the open there is a gentle space Some have filled it with buildings, trees and roads others see nothing but a statue reminding of a doubt once considered.
Yet for all this a lonely pigeon will fly--an empty flight Unless straining eyes may see through acquiescent voids to find people.

Paul Buck, Photographer

Mr. Paul Buck, school photographer, it a well known person on campus. No one can forget the hard time he has putting that one last person in exactly the right spot in group pictures. Or his "Just one more will do it" as he clicks off another 10 or so. Those who work with him are constantly amazed at the ideas he can muster up on the spur of the moment. Because candids and special photography are his pride and joy, we are dedicating these next few pages to him. Thank you, Mr. Buck.

In Memoriam

The life of any University is comprised of human life. Within the scope of life are individuals. Dale Ahrens was an individual. He also was a student at Millikin University. Dale was not the typical 'do-nothing'; rather, he was involved in many activities. But, like many students active or inactive, he was confused. This personal torment of his ended with death.

Dale Ahrens put his life into the process of this University. Millikin did not find a place for understanding. The least we who remain can do: rise to the occasion and respond with thought and understanding.

Dale was a student, an individual, and a Human. His death signalled to those of us who knew him the loss of a great potential.

buildings

Roads to walk down once
And roads to walk forever
There are many things that are seen that fade As others remain some physically but most dwell down in deep wells of thought These things concern us now.

And he said
"Have you lived this year?"
If knowing is seeing or crying living, I have lived But can't tell where See the blind and touch the wall believe cold stone
and he said
"Have you thought this year?"
If classes are knowing or talking seeing, I have thought but can't say why Touch the blind and see the wall Cold believe stone
and he said,
"Have you cried this year?"
If people are human or loving being, I have cried and can point to where and why Won't someone touch me Cold stone believe
Let us hear your heart!

After looking
I drifted among the flowing leaves
blown and flung across the campus
everything around was brick and stone While people rushed by whipped up around I kept on flying yet the wind had stopped and so did change battered shoved left--indifferent No people in brick-red worlds transforming winds have left no mark-- Mythical Millikin Tour!
Your towers never fall my kaleidoscope becomes your death-- but for thou! Ye still live on, O black and white fidelity deny thee shades of gray growing as trees the buildings survive the winds of change.
I see people absorbing order I see photographs of stone Another building confronts me says,
"Let Millikin stand alone."

A yearbook should tell it like it is-- it is a history book. We hope MILLIDEK 1971 is the story of Millikin 1971-- with the permanence of its buildings and the transiency of its people.
After all is said and done, we are only visitors of Millikin 1971:

At first sight
it were as though I was a lonely leaf
blown and flung across the campus
there was nothing but buildings
sidewalks and people . . .

After looking
I drifted among the flowing leaves
blown and flung across the campus
everything around was brick and stone . . .
